FRANKLYN A. P. MONTESSY.—One Millionaire, who lives from Munich, has for a time past been hearing daily in the As. French Messenger the following advertisement:—

"To the Wealthy of this World. It is your education and sentiment which united with your riches, constitute the class of human beings in young, well educated and possessed of all that you have a surplus of riches is not to bestow on a stranger? But do not of smaller sum than £10,000. Do to accept than that would be to beg."
